Graham's Port LBV 2015

'LBV Port is a step up from the usual reds and rubies, and this one, marking the bicentenary of Graham's, is intense and still youthful, with rich blackberries, some sweet black liquorice and a fairly tannic finish, ready to take on strong cheeses.'

Torres Sangre De Toro Special Selection

'A very dark wine, and before you taste it, you can smell the fullness of the fruit. It's weighty, big and bold, with hints of minerals and spice, a thick, dark plumminess and just a hint of violets. A well-made wine for the price.'

Miguel Torres Las Mulas Sauvignon Blanc Reserva 2020

'A fruitier Sauvignon Blanc from Chile but similarly youthful and appealing, is Miguel Torres Las Mulas Sauvignon Blanc Reserva 2020, an organic wine with acacia, grapefruit and light pineapple nuances and a fresh, palate-wakening finish'.

Vasse Felix Classic Semillon-Sauvignon Blanc 2020

‘Here’s just the sort of tangy, zesty white that is ideal for jolting us out of our winter slumber.
Produced by Vasse Felix, the first winery to plant in the Margaret River, it has refreshing splashes of gooseberry and lime.’

Yalumba Galway Shiraz 2018

‘This is heart-warming with a densely fruited nose and a rich palate. Barossa is the most famous Australian region for structured Shiraz, and Yalumba is a great maker. Enjoy this with the lamb, lentil & prune soup.’

Yalumba The Cigar, Menzies Vineyard 2015

The best Australian wine to buy now.
'Coonawarra is famous for its cabernet sauvignon, and this demonstrates why. Fleshy, sweetly ripe and with an incredible, tantalising fresh tobacco and cedar perfume that runs through the palate too'.

Vasse Felix Classic Semillon-Sauvignon Blanc 2020

The best Australian wine to buy now.

Margaret River is a remote and beautiful peninsula, situated in the south-west corner of Australia where the Indian and Southern Oceans meet. Here's one of the excellent wines made there: a softly luminous Semillon and sauvignon blend with no oak. Try it with hot smoked salmon, rice noodles with Thai herbs or lemony roast chicken.

Yalumba Organic Viognier 2019

‘The next wine up from its basic Viognier, and a definite step up in quality – thanks mainly, winemaker Louisa Rose says, to wild yeasts rather than organic viticulture, though that obviously contributes. Her tasting note of honeysuckle, fennel and apricot nectar is spot-on.’

Yalumba The Virgilius, Eden Valley 2017

‘Ironically you’d think this was the Old World wine, though winemaker Louisa Rose has spent a lifetime working with the variety. There’s that almost overripe apricot of a Condrieu. Takes time to reveal its character and complexity – you could even decant it and serve it in a Burgundy glass.’
