

Decanter

Dalrymple Cave Block Chardonnay, 2017

“Enticing nose of stone fruit, lemongrass and candied peel. The textured, mid-weight palate shows ripe melon, nectarine flesh and a sea-spray tang. Delicious now but will cellar well for five years or so.”

Yalumba Y Series Viognier

“Honeysuckle aromas pave the way for flavours of peach, apricot and just a touch of grapefruit on the palate. Another great wine.”

Yalumba Y Series Riesling

“This is one of Australia’s finest-value dry rieslings and this new vintage, with its upgraded packaging, gives the already classy wine an extra boost of pizzazz. The tangy citrus theme cuts straight through the smoked haddock and juicy king prawns in the scrumptious Fish Pie.”

Torres Sangre De Toro

“The new look for Spanish wine specialists Sangre de Toro comes via a pleasing blend of red fruit aromas underpinned by spicy black pepper notes. Aiming to combine the classic with the modern, the new image has given the brand a character and personality lift, with the red colour carrying through to other wines in the collection. The back label also highlights the brand’s commitment to the environment, having reduced its direct and indirect CO2 emissions per bottle by 34% between 2008-2020, with the aim of reaching 60% by 2023.”

Torres Celeste Crianza

“The Torres name has been connected with wine for more than three centuries and this is a great example of their craftsmanship. It has elegant aromas of ripe red fruit and floral notes, gentle toasty notes from oak maturation. Excellent with cottage pie.”

Yalumba Y Series Merlot

“This week, I have an incredible, bargain-priced red that lacks nothing in richness or complexity. This fabulous plum-soaked, silky-smooth merlot goes perfectly with our Sunday pie!”
